To whom it may concern,

I have followed the Microsoft case very carefully, and I am very disappointed with the way the case has progressed. I have yet to see any evidence of how consumers were harmed by Microsoft including a Browser with their OS. In fact IBM's Warp OS 2 came out before Windows 95 and it also included a browser. Why wasn't IBM included in the lawsuit?

This legal battle was never about the protecting the consumer, it was about protecting competitors of Microsoft. If there are so many consumers that have been harmed by Microsoft why don't they buy a Mac or use Linux. Even though you have painted Microsoft as a Monopoly they are not the only operating system in town. Let the market decide!!! Stay away from my OS!!!
